ABOUT LINK CAMPUS UNIVERSITY

LINK CAMPUS UNIVERSITY was founded in 1999 as the Italian branch of the University of Malta (D.M. 27th November 1999) and was the first foreign higher education institute to receive approval from the Italian Department of Education to operate in Italy. It later achieved further recognition in 2007 (D.M. 4th July 2007) and in 2011 (D.M. 21st September 2011), when it became an independent and legally approved University in Italy. The mission of the University is to train professionals capable of facing the new challenges of a world in continuous evolution.

LINK CAMPUS UNIVERSITY - AN INTERNATIONAL STRATEGY

Since its foundation Link Campus University has always been a University related to the concept of internationalization and to the concept of liberty in a democracy: In fact when it was inaugurated as a branch of Malta University in Italy the theme of the inauguration dealt with the following issues: Without liberty who can speak of fundamental rights? Without liberty who can speak of freedom of thought? Without liberty who can speak of University? Liberty is universal just as a university has the universality of science and knowledge.

Link Campus University which is situated in the Via Nomentana 335, aims at providing its students with the skills necessary to embark upon a management career in international institutions and industries. The emphasis is on small classes and a tutorial system, and students are encouraged to undergo a period of study abroad and an industry internship as part of their course.

Link Campus University has an internationalization policy and since its foundation its areas of excellence have been the following: Business Administration, Law, Performing Arts and the Media, Political Science and Diplomacy, Intelligence and Security. Throughout the years the areas have been developed and specialized.
